Farmers' Market

Depending on the composition of their market, some farmers' market food vendors are exempted from Ontario Regulation 493/17: Food Premises.

However, they are still subject to other provincial health laws, including:

- It is against the law to sell: uninspected meats, unpasteurized milk, or ungraded eggs
- All water used for food preparation and processing, including water from private wells, must be potable

As per the Health Protection and Promotion Act (the Act),

- Each vendor must inform Public Health prior to opening for business
- Public health staff will continue to inspect exempted vendors to ensure no health hazards exist (under Section 13 of the Act)

Furthermore, exempted farmers' market food vendors must continue to ensure that the food is manufactured, processed, prepared, stored, handled, displayed, distributed, transported, sold or offered for sale in a manner that ensures the product is not a health hazard.

Following the best practice tips listed below will help ensure the safety of food products sold at exempted farmers' markets:

Temperature Control

- Hazardous foods (i.e. support the growth of disease-causing organisms or their toxins) are to be transported, stored and maintained at safe temperatures. Cold foods are to be kept at 4°C (40°F) or colder and hot foods at 60°C (140°F) or hotter.
- Freezer units are to be maintained such that all food is kept frozen.
- Use accurate indicating thermometers to monitor food storage temperatures.

Preparation and Handling

- Raw and ready to eat foods are to be kept separate to prevent cross-contamination.
- Hazardous food should not be kept in the "Danger Zone" (i.e. 4°C (40°F) to 60°C (140°F)) for more than 2 hours.
- Avoid direct contact with food by using tongs & ladles. Provide a sufficient number of clean, back-up utensils stored in a sanitary manner.
- All foods are to be stored in clean, washable containers with tight fitting lids to protect from insects, dust and chemicals.

Cooking/Reheating

- Use a probe thermometer to check internal temperatures of cooked food.

Food Type	Minimum Internal Cooking / Re-heating Temperatures
Whole poultry	82°C/180°F for a minimum of 15 seconds (cooking) 74°C/165°F for a minimum of 15 seconds (reheating)
Other poultry portions/ food mixtures	74°C / 165°F for a minimum of 15 seconds
Pork and ground meat	71°C / 160°F for a minimum of 15 seconds
Fish	70°C / 158°F for a minimum of 15 seconds

Cleaning and Sanitizing

- Hands are to be washed before commencing work, after handling raw or hazardous product, after using the toilet, smoking, handling garbage or cash, and as often as necessary.
- The hand wash basin (i.e. as a minimum: a container with a valve that turns on and off, filled with warm, potable water that drains into a pail, the contents of which are disposed of in a toilet/sink) is to be conveniently located with soap and single service towel dispensers.
- All food handlers are to wear clean outer garments, ensure hair does not contaminate food, and not use tobacco while handling food.
- Counters and food contact surfaces are to be kept clean with soap and potable water then sanitized with either chlorine, quaternary ammonia, iodine or a product approved by Health Canada. To prepare a chlorine sanitizer: add 2 mL of bleach to 1 L of water.
- Leak-proof containers with tight-fitting lids sufficient for storing all garbage and waste in a sanitary manner are to be provided and emptied as needed.

HEALTH AND SAFETY

STANDARD

Subject:	WORKPLACE HARASSMENT & SEXUAL HARASSMENT STANDARD H-S-40
Coverage:	All City Staff
Approved by:	Joint Health and Safety Committee/Safety Advisory Committee
Issued: Oct. 23 rd , 2012	Last Reviewed: Jan. 14 th , 2021	Next Review: N/A

GENERAL PURPOSE and PROCEDURE

The City of Quinte West recognizes the right of all employees and members of Council to work in an environment which is free from discrimination and harassment based on any of the prohibited grounds in the Ontario Human Rights Code. The Municipality values positive and supportive interaction among its employees and from members of the public and is committed to creating and maintaining an enabling environment where dignity and self-worth of all individuals is respected.

All complaints will be reviewed and addressed following the process set out in this policy. All incidents of harassment will be regarded as serious offences which may result in disciplinary action up to and including dismissal. Similarly, any threat or act of reprisal against an employee who has made a complaint or against a witness who participates in an investigation will be subject to appropriate disciplinary action.

DEFINITIONS

Workplace Harassment and Sexual Harassment

Workplace harassment is a form of discrimination that will not be tolerated or condoned. It includes harassment based on those prohibited grounds as set out in the Ontario Human Rights Code: race, ancestry, place of origin, colour, ethnic origin, citizenship, creed, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, age, marital status, family status or disability and a record of offences for which a pardon has been granted under the Criminal Records Act and has not been revoked.

For purposes of this policy, workplace harassment is engaging in a course of improper comment or conduct that the individual knew or ought reasonably to have known, would cause offense or harm.

HEALTH AND SAFETY

STANDARD

Workplace Sexual Harassment

Workplace sexual harassment is a course of vexatious comment or conduct against a worker in a workplace because of sex, gender identity or gender expression, where the course of comment or conduct is known or ought reasonably to be known to be unwelcome.

Workplace sexual harassment also means making a sexual solicitation or advance where the person making the solicitation or advance is in a position to confer, grant, or deny a benefit or advancement to the worker and the person knows or ought reasonably to know that the solicitation or advance is unwelcome.

Examples of allegations that could be processed under this policy are:

- Complaints about harassment or discrimination on grounds prohibited in the Human Rights Code as defined above;
- Failure to reasonably accommodate an employee with a disability as defined in the Human Rights Code;
- Systemic discrimination on human rights grounds (e.g. requiring a specific physical characteristic that is not justifiable in a job); and
- Sexual harassment may include behavior such as sexual remarks, unwelcome touching, inappropriate jokes, sexual requests or suggestions, staring or making comments about a person's appearance or displays of sexually suggestive pictures, drawing, notes or slogans.

Some examples of workplace harassment include:

- Picking on, bullying (see Bullying in the Workplace H-S-40-3), mocking, imitating or teasing a co-worker (bullying is the most common form of harassment)
- Spreading malicious rumours about a co-worker;
- Tampering with a co-worker's desk, workplace, equipment or belongings;
- Excluding or ignoring a co-worker;
- Telling jokes that are racist, sexual, sexist or otherwise in bad taste;
- Abusing co-workers with your words by yelling at them, making threats and name calling; and
- Physically abusing co-workers by pushing, hitting, spitting, fondling, groping, grabbing, finger pointing or aggressively invading a co-worker's space.
(The last two bullets can or will be referenced to workplace violence)

Types and Examples of Harassment

HEALTH AND SAFETY

STANDARD

Sexual Harassment can be an abuse of power, responsibility or authority when comments are made regarding an individual's physical characteristics or mannerisms.

Example:

- insulting comments about a person's sexual orientation, gender identity or gender expression;
- unwelcome physical contact;
- Sexual advances or demands that the recipient does not welcome or want;
- Threats, punishment or denial of a benefit for refusing a sexual advance;
- Displaying sexually offensive material such as posters, pictures, calendars, cartoons, screen savers, pornographic or erotic web sites or other electronic material;
- Persistent, unwanted attention after a consensual relationship ends;
- suggestive or offensive remarks or innuendos;
- proposition of physical intimacy;
- leering or inappropriate staring;
- using suggestive names such as "honey or babe";
- offensive jokes or comments about an employee,
- vulgar or explicit email or social media messages; and
- rough and vulgar humour or language related to gender.

a) Racial or Ethnic Harassment

The term race includes all race related grounds: race, ancestry, place of origin, colour, ethnic origin, citizenship and creed. Examples include:

- Unwelcome remarks, jokes innuendoes or taunting about a person's racial or ethnic background, colour, place of birth, citizenship or ancestry;
- Racists, ethnic or religious graffiti or a display of racist material;
- Practical jokes based on racial, ethnic or religious grounds that cause embarrassment or awkwardness;
- Refusal to work or converse with an employee because of his or her racial or ethnic background; and
- Use of racially derogatory nicknames.

b) Poisoned Work Environment

Comments or conduct that violates the prohibited grounds of the Human Rights Code but are not directed at any specific individual, can create a degrading, offensive or “poisoned” work environment and may therefore be considered harassment. Examples include:

HEALTH AND SAFETY

STANDARD

- Display of material which degrades or denigrates a person or group on the grounds of gender, race, ethnic origin, disability or sexual orientation; and
- Patronizing behaviour, language or terminology which reinforces stereotypes and undermines other workers’ self respect or adversely affects work performance or working conditions.

What Harassment Does Not Include

The word harassment is often used incorrectly. It does not include:

- Appropriate direction, evaluation or discipline by a Manager/ Supervisor/ Lead hand;
- Stressful events associated with the performance of legitimate job duties;
- Good natured jesting and bantering which is mutually acceptable; and
- Friendly or romantic behaviour which is welcome and mutual.

Definition of Workplace

Harassment can occur in any Municipal location, not just in the office. It can occur in meeting rooms, washrooms, lunch rooms or any other place where Municipal business is conducted. Harassment as defined in this policy which occurs outside the workplace (e.g. during business travel or at a work-related social function) and which negatively affects working relationships may also be subject to investigation.

Harassment Complaint Procedures

An employee who experiences harassment as defined in this policy has a number of options available to deal with the situation. (Please refer to the Workplace Harassment Flow Chart H-S-40-2)

1. Informal Complaints

You may ask that the matter be dealt with informally with the assistance of your Manager/Supervisor/Lead hand, Manager of Human Resources or CAO. Harassment may be the result of a communication problem, and once addressed is resolved fairly easily. Therefore, whenever possible informal resolution is encouraged. (CAO may appoint a designate to assist with an investigation on his/her behalf)

HEALTH AND SAFETY

STANDARD

a) Deal With the Incident Yourself

Often the most effective way to end harassment is to deal promptly and directly with the person involved. It is possible that the person does not know that you find the behaviour offensive and it is unlikely to stop until he/she is aware that the actions are distasteful. Tell the person clearly and firmly that the behaviour is against corporate policy. Politely explain that you feel offended, uncomfortable or intimidated by the behaviour and you would like it to stop. It may be helpful to have a witness present or make note of your conversation afterwards. If you prefer to address your concerns in writing, you may send a letter to the person outlining your concerns however, be sure to keep a copy of your letter and proof that it was received (e.g. registered mail receipt). It is important that you keep a written record of the incident(s) including dates, times, the nature of the behaviour and any witnesses as this documentation could be helpful, to validate your complaint in the future.

b) Seeking Assistance

If you feel uncomfortable dealing with the incident yourself, or if you have tried to deal with the situation and the harassment has continued, you may choose to seek assistance from your Manager/Supervisor /Leadhand. If the harasser is your Supervisor or manager you may approach the Human Resources department, CAO or another manager for assistance.

Any complaint of harassment will be treated very seriously and will be fully investigated. It is the responsibility of all employees to cooperate fully with the investigation. Whenever a member of management becomes aware of a harassment complaint, he or she must act immediately to resolve the issue.

2. Formal Complaints

- a) A formal complaint may be filed within a reasonable time of the harassment. However, the sooner the complaint is filed, the easier it will be to investigate and “resolve the situation” satisfactorily. Every effort will be made to maintain confidentiality of the parties involved however absolute confidentiality cannot be guaranteed. A formal complaint may be filed with your Manager/Supervisor/Lead hand, Manager of Human Resources or CAO.

HEALTH AND SAFETY

STANDARD

- b) Formal complaints must be written and signed and include a description of the incident, or incidents, names of witnesses, if any, and any steps already taken to resolve the matter using Workplace Harassment Reporting Form H-S-40-1. To ensure consistency of the process, the member of management receiving a formal complaint must, within five (5) days of receiving the complaint, contact the CAO, Manager of Human Resources and Solicitor who will assign an investigation team.
- c) If the harasser is your immediate Supervisor or Manager, you can take the complaint directly to the Manager of Human Resources or their designate. If the alleged harasser is the Manager of Human Resources you can take the complaint directly to the CAO.
- d) The Manager of Human Resources and CAO will provide a written acknowledgement of the complaint within five (5) working days of the receipt of the complaint. The respondent will also receive written notification that a formal complaint has been made. Investigations will ordinarily be completed within 90 calendar days or less unless there are extenuating circumstances warranting a longer investigation (e.g. More than five witnesses, key witness unavailable due to illness)
- e) If the complaint takes the form of a grievance, any contract provisions governing response times will supersede these time frames.
- f) The investigation team will gather the pertinent information; interview the complainant, the alleged harasser and any witnesses. Information obtained during the investigation will be treated as confidential unless disclosure is necessary for the purposes of investigating the complaint for the purposes of taking corrective action or is otherwise required to be disclosed by law.
- g) While the investigation is on-going, the worker who has allegedly experienced harassment, the alleged harasser(s) and any witnesses will be instructed not to discuss the complaint, incident or investigation with other workers or witnesses unless necessary to obtain advice about their rights.
- h) The investigating team will ordinarily prepare a written report which will include specific findings of fact, a conclusion about whether harassment or other misconduct has occurred and may include recommendations for action. This report will be submitted to the CAO, Manager of Human Resources and

STANDARD

Solicitor for action. Complainants and Respondents who are employees will be informed of the results of the investigation and of any corrective action that has been taken or that will be taken as a result of an investigation.

i) Investigation Files

A confidential file will be opened on all formal harassment complaints and will be kept separate from personnel files for a period of not less than five (5) years. The investigation file will include a copy of the complaint or details about the incident(s), a record of the investigation, a copy of the investigation report and copies of the results of the investigation and corrective action which were provided to the complainant and respondent.

3. Malicious Complaints

Any complaint made with malicious intent or in bad faith will be treated very seriously and will result in disciplinary action.

4. Complaints from Members of the Public

Members of the public and those in receipt of services from the Municipality are also guaranteed equal treatment with respect to services, goods and facilities without discrimination under the Human Rights Code.

If a complaint of harassment is received from a member of the public, the Director will thoroughly investigate the matter and recommend appropriate action to rectify the situation. Such action may include training, reprimand or other discipline, up to and including termination.

5. Complaints Involving a Department Head or Member of Council

In the event of a complaint involving a Department Head, member of Council, or the CAO, the Manager of Human Resources, or CAO, the Manager of Human Resources and Solicitor shall be contacted and a qualified external consultant will conduct the investigation.

6. What to do if you are accused of Harassment

If you are approached informally and advised that your comments or actions are unacceptable, examine your behaviour carefully. If you are guilty of the accusations that have been made against you, cease the offensive behaviour immediately and apologize for your actions. If you do not, and the claims are well founded, you may be vulnerable to a formal complaint investigation and disciplinary action.

HEALTH AND SAFETY

If you believe you are innocent of the charges or that they have been made in bad faith, advise your Manager/Supervisor/Lead hand. If the complaint is not resolved at these levels, you may contact the Manager of Human Resources and/or CAO.

If a formal complaint has been filed against you, you will be contacted during the course of the investigation to give your version of the events. You may bring a union representative to these meetings if you so desire. You will be advised of the outcome of the investigation and any action to resolve the complaint.

Anyone accused of harassment is encouraged to keep documentation including dates, times, places and witnesses.

7. Management/Supervisory/Lead hand Responsibility

The Human Rights Code and Occupational Health & Safety Act provide that a person who has the authority to prevent or discourage harassment may be held responsible for failing to do so. All Managers/Supervisors/Lead hands therefore, have a particular duty to deal with such incidents as soon as they are made aware of them. Action should be taken even if a formal complaint has not been made. The Manager/Supervisor/Lead hand should advise the Director of the nature of the offence and the actions taken to address the problem.

In the event that a complaint of harassment filed with the Human Rights Commission is upheld, the onus is on the Employer to show that efforts have been made, in good faith, to prevent harassment, to stop it if it has occurred and to correct the damage that has resulted. If the Employer cannot demonstrate that such actions have been taken, Senior Management and the organization may be held liable and be subject to fines, sanctions or other remedies as determined by a Human Rights Tribunal.

8. Confidentiality

All parties involved in an incident of harassment are to maintain confidentiality throughout the investigation and to protect, as much as possible, the privacy and reputation of all parties concerned. However, it must be recognized that should the complainant choose to initiate proceeding or make comments outside the formal complain process, confidentiality cannot be guaranteed and should not be promised. Also, information collected and retained may be subject to the requirements of the Municipal Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act, the Human Rights Code and the rules governing court and tribunal proceedings.

9. Remedial Action

If an investigation confirms that harassment has taken place and remedial action is warranted, it will be initiated as soon as possible. This may include counselling, education and training, a review of policies and practices or other disciplinary action up to and including dismissal. In no circumstances shall the remedial action penalize the complainant, unless deemed a malicious complaint.

10. Reprisals

All employees involved in cases of harassment are protected from reprisal or threat of reprisal under this policy. Reprisal may include a denial or threat of denial of any employment, related opportunity (e.g. a promotion), discipline or threat of disciplinary action, including dismissal, ostracism of the complainant by other employees, or other forms of intimidation. These or any other kind of reprisal will be subject to disciplinary action.

A Natural Attraction

Bullying in the "Workplace"

What is workplace bullying?

Bullying is usually seen as acts or verbal comments that could 'mentally' hurt or isolate a person in the workplace. Sometimes, bullying can involve negative physical contact as well. Bullying usually involves repeated incidents or a pattern of behavior that is intended to intimidate, offend, degrade or humiliate a particular person or group of people. It has also been described as the assertion of power through aggression.

Is bullying a workplace issue?

Currently there is little occupational health and safety legislation in Canada that specifically deals with bullying in the workplace. Quebec legislation includes "psychological harassment" in the "Act Respecting Labour Standards". Some jurisdictions have legislation on workplace violence in which bullying is included. In addition, employers have a general duty to protect employees from risks at work. This duty can mean both physical harm and mental health. Many employers choose to address the issue of bullying as both physical and mental harm can "cost" an organization.

In general, there will be differences in opinion and sometimes conflicts at work. However, behavior that is unreasonable and offends or harms any person should not be tolerated.

What are examples of bullying?

While bullying is a form of aggression, the actions can be both obvious and subtle. It is important to note that the following is not a checklist, nor does it mention all forms of bullying. This list is included as a way of showing some of the ways bullying may happen in a workplace. Also remember that bullying is usually considered to be a pattern of behavior where one or more incidents will help show that bullying is taking place.

Examples include:

- spreading malicious rumours, gossip, or innuendo that is not true
- excluding or isolating someone socially
- intimidating a person
- undermining or deliberately impeding a person's work

- physically abusing or threatening abuse
- removing areas of responsibilities without cause
- constantly changing work guidelines
- establishing impossible deadlines that will set up the individual to fail
- withholding necessary information or purposefully giving the wrong information
- making jokes that are 'obviously offensive' by spoken word or e-mail
- intruding on a person's privacy by pestering, spying or stalking
- assigning unreasonable duties or workload which are unfavorable to one person (in a way that creates unnecessary pressure)
- underwork - creating a feeling of uselessness
- yelling or using profanity
- criticizing a person persistently or constantly
- belittling a person's opinions
- unwarranted (or undeserved) punishment
- blocking applications for training, leave or promotion
- tampering with a person's personal belongings or work equipment.

It is sometimes hard to know if bullying is happening at the workplace. Many studies acknowledge that there is a "fine line" between strong management and bullying. Comments that are objective and are intended to provide constructive feedback are not usually considered bullying, but rather are intended to assist the employee with their work.

If you are not sure an action or statement could be considered bullying, you can use the "reasonable person" test. Would most people consider the action unacceptable?

How can bullying affect an individual?

People who are the targets of bullying may experience a range of effects. These reactions include:

- shock
- anger
- feelings of frustration and/or helplessness
- increased sense of vulnerability
- loss of confidence
- physical symptoms such as
 - inability to sleep
 - loss of appetite
- psychosomatic symptoms such as
 - stomach pains
 - headaches
- panic or anxiety, especially about going to work
- family tension and stress
- inability to concentrate, and
- low morale and productivity.

How can bullying affect the workplace?

Bullying affects the overall "health" of an organization. An "unhealthy" workplace can have many effects. In general these include:

- increased absenteeism
- increased turnover
- increased stress
- increased costs for employee assistance programs (EAPs), recruitment, etc.
- increased risk for accidents / incidents
- decreased productivity and motivation
- decreased morale
- reduced corporate image and customer confidence, and
- poorer customer service.

What can you do if you think you are being bullied?

If you feel that you are being bullied, discriminated against, victimized or subjected to any form of harassment:

DO

- FIRMLY tell the person that his or her behavior is not acceptable and ask them to stop. You can ask a supervisor or union member to be with you when you approach the person.
- KEEP a factual journal or diary of daily events. Record:
 - o The date, time and what happened in as much detail as possible
 - o The names of witnesses.
 - o The outcome of the event.

Remember, it is not just the character of the incidents, but the number, frequency, and especially the pattern that can reveal the bullying or harassment.

- KEEP copies of any letters, memos, e-mails, faxes, etc., received from the person.
- REPORT the harassment to the person identified in your workplace policy, your supervisor, or a delegated manager. If your concerns are minimized, proceed to the next level of management.

DO NOT

- DO NOT RETALIATE. You may end up looking like the perpetrator and will most certainly cause confusion for those responsible for evaluating and responding to the situation.

What can an employer do?

The most important component of any workplace prevention program is management commitment. Management commitment is best communicated in a written policy. Since bullying is a form of violence in the workplace, employers may wish to write a comprehensive policy that covers a range of incidents (from bullying and harassment to physical violence).

A workplace violence prevention program must:

- be developed by management and employee representatives.
- apply to management, employee's, clients, independent contractors and anyone who has a relationship with your company.
- define what you mean by workplace bullying (or harassment or violence) in precise, concrete language.
- provide clear examples of unacceptable behavior and working conditions.
- state in clear terms your organization's view toward workplace bullying and its commitment to the prevention of workplace bullying.
- precisely state the consequences of making threats or committing acts.
- outline the process by which preventive measures will be developed.
- encourage reporting of all incidents of bullying or other forms of workplace violence.
- outline the confidential process by which employees can report incidents and to whom.
- assure no reprisals will be made against reporting employees.
- outline the procedures for investigating and resolving complaints.
- describe how information about potential risks of bullying/violence will be communicated to employees.
- make a commitment to provide support services to victims.
- offer a confidential Employee Assistance Program (EAP) to allow employees with personal problems to seek help.
- make a commitment to fulfill the prevention training needs of different levels of personnel within the organization.
- make a commitment to monitor and regularly review the policy.
- state applicable regulatory requirements, where possible.

What are some general tips for the workplace?

DO

- ENCOURAGE everyone at the workplace to act towards others in a respectful and professional manner.
- HAVE a workplace policy in place that includes a reporting system.
- EDUCATE everyone that bullying is a serious matter.
- TRY TO WORK OUT solutions before the situation gets serious or "out of control".
- EDUCATE everyone about what is considered bullying, and whom they can go to for help.
- TREAT all complaints seriously, and deal with complaints promptly and confidentially.
- TRAIN supervisors and managers in how to deal with complaints and potential situations. Encourage them to address situations promptly whether or not a formal complaint has been filed.
- HAVE an impartial third party help with the resolution, if necessary.

DO NOT

- DO NOT IGNORE any potential problems.
- DO NOT DELAY resolution. Act as soon as possible
